Of Interest to Pensioners.
Washington dispatch to the Cincin-Enquirer says: "It is not the intended the Commissioner of the Commissioner of Pensions to enew pension certificates to widows dependent relatives entitled to an invest of pension from $50.000. issue new pension certificates to widows and dependent relatives entitled to an increase of pension from $8 to $12 under the recent act of Congress. An error of the types made it appear in the Enquirer of the 28th that "new certificates" would be issued. The Commissioner of Pensions has so arranged the matter that those entitled to the increased amount under the new law need make no application or even write any letters to the Pension Office. When the next quarterly pension adv (Jane 4th) comes around the Pension Agents will pay $12 per month for the quarter due instead of the $8 mentioned in the present certificates. Of course, it should be understood that the increased amount will only date from March 19, 1856, when the act was approved by the President."

The Small Fruit Crop.
The Raral World, of St. Louis, has published 150 reports in reply to circulars sent out to the principal fruit shipping points in Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississipi, Alabams, Texas, and Georgia, from which, it says, it is clear that Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky will have see peaches. Tennessee may have haif a crop; Arkansas about the same, while Mississippi and northern Texas report but very slight injury. Alabama and Louisiana will have the usual peach and small fruit angly, while Arkansas and Tennessee will not have one-haif a crop of strawberles, owing to the drouth of iast summer. Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky will have an average of small fruits. The esason is reported hackward at all points. The vegetable supply and general prospects are equal to those of any former year in the territory heard from. Late spring frosts may furface the summer of the summer

Newport and Cincinnati People Interested at Last in the Mayaville and Big Sandy.

The Daily Bulletin has taken especia The DAILY BULLETIN has taken especial pains in the past to keep its numerons readers thoroughly informed as to the exact status of the Mayaville and Big Sandy Railroad question. In this we have never failed, and we shall continue in the good work, because we are thoroughly convinced that the people of Mayaville and Mason County are exceedingly interested in the building of the road, and are anxious at all times to have the latest news concerning it.

In yesterday's issue we stated that the news from Newport and Campbell County

In yesterday's issue we stated that the news from Newportand Campbell County was much more encouraging, and the indications were that the guarantee for that county would be given in a day or so. An hour or two after we went to press, this news was confirmed by the receipt of the following telegrams:

N. S. Prank: Spieculad meeting. Sverything tooks encertai.

S. Mister Arr.

The matter is not yet settied, but the question will remain in doubt hut a few days longer, at least, that's "the, way the wind is hlowing now."

The people of Cincinnati have hecome interested in the road, and are ready to extend a helping hand. As a proof of this we clip the following from the Board of Trade proceedings in Friday's Commercial Gazette:

"The matter of the construction of the Cincinnati and Big Sandy Railroad, on the south side of the Ohio River, from Asbland, Ky., to Covington, Ky., was introduced by Mr. Livesey, who stated that it was necessary—that in order to complete the purchase of the right of way the sum of $$5,000 was necessary in order to close the contract with Mr. Huntington, which sum was necessary to complete the amount asked for from Campheli County, Ky. The clitizens there had aiready subscribed $40,000, hut as the road itself would, without any doubt whatever, prove bendedia to Cincinnati, hy opening up a series of the contract with the chizens there had aiready subscribed $40,000, hut as the road itself would, without any doubt whatever, prove bendedia to Cincinnati, hy opening up a from Campheli County, Ky. The citizens there had already subscribed $440,000, but as the road itself would, without any douth whatever, prove beneficial to Clincinnati, by opening up a coal and miningregion hitherto untapped, and at the ament ime developing a new iterritory for the sale of Cincinnati manufacturers and wholessic merchants, that itwonid prove eminentity desirable to solt the proposed new road in ever manner possible, either, by financial or moral support. Mr. Livesey was appointed on a special committee to report at the next regular meeting."

The Commercial Gasetie, same issue, says editorally:

NEWFORT AND NEWFORT NEWS.

"The question of a south side railroad from. Ashland to Newport, Ky, is just now in a critical state. Mr. Huntington is ready to build the road, and has gone so far as to agree to spend $75,000 towards procuring this right of way.

"Tiffs has heen secured up to the Campbell County will do what remains to be done, and there are two ways of stating the position of those pople. One is to describe them as slow, and the other to say they are conservative.

"The time during which Mr. Huntington's proposition must be accepted or rejected has about expired—actually ran out yesterday, we believe—but we understand there are three days grace.

"Mr. Huntington has add that if the conditions are compiled with—and they certainly are extremely liberal on his part—he will begin the work in thirty days, and the road shall be first-class, double-tracked with steel rails.

"He also proposes to build a bridge wholes and his part—he will begin the work in thirty days, and the road shall be first-class, double-tracked with steel rails.

across the Qhio, so as to perfect his rail-road connections. There has been a duli and narrow notion propagated over the river that if there was another bridge across the Ohio, Newport would he but a way station.

seroes the Ohio, Newport would be bet a way station.

"Of course the more bridges across the river the greater the increase of population and commercial activity on the southern bank. We are all of this valiety, on both sides of the river, actually (Cincinnati. Covington and Newport are South Cincinnati. The fact that the court side and of the substantial country will not harm that city, but only impart to her greater vigor and prosperity. What the people of a locality want is not exclusiveness and termination, but intercourse, rapid transit, cheep transportation, facility of exchange.

"We trust the people of Campbell County will not he insensible of the fact that it would be a misfortune to them if they should neglect their present opportunity. They should remember that it is rare in the history of any city that a railroad king comes to the gates with $40,000 in his hand, and offers it for the right of way to open a great steel road to the sea. If this royal offer is neglected, it may be a long time before another menarch of national highways will knock for admission. "Two points in this connection are suggested, showing how great matters may be involved. We of North Cincinnati have not solved the question of our future water supply. We may adopt the mains across the river. There is a chance for a combination in this, and therein appears the fact that Cincinnati is in many ways deepity interested and should not stand back when there is a chance for a combination in this, and therein appears the fact that Cincinnati is in many ways deepity interested and should not stand back when there is a chance for a combination in this, and therein appears the fact that Cincinnati is in many ways deepity interested and should not stand back when there is a chance for a combination in this, and therein appears the fact that Cincinnati is in many ways deepity interested and should not stand back when there is a chance for a combination of the matter of the marvelous shores of Virginia.
